DESIGN BRIEFS

Undergarments for business plans?

START WITH STATEMENTS

- Business
  - Mission
  - Vision
  - Goals
- Buyers/Customers
  - Who: Age, Income
  - Why do they buy?
  - Types of marketing to reach them?
  - What will they buy?

MISSION

- Be honest with yourself about what you want.
- It’s perfectly okay to make your mission short and sweet.
- While it probably isn’t all about the money, answer this question with the passion you have for that urge and satisfaction you get from your work.
- Write it down and let it be the ingredients of your secret recipe.
- Think beyond your box.
- Dream big.

VISION

- What does the future look like? This is different for each individual.
  - Famous?
  - Leave a legacy?
  - Change the way people interact with art?
  - Get rich?
  - Gallery representation?

GOALS

- Short-term — be sort of precise
  - Start at the beginning: do your research.
  - Get the meta materials ready to go: journal of keywords, statements, images readied and renamed, analytics, google doc, banking and merchandising info
  - Build out some pages complete pages. Try them a few ways.
  - Promise to make it reflect you! Trial and error is why sites launch without meta data.

GO ROGUE — CREATE OPPORTUNITIES

Sometimes it can make good sense to skirt the gatekeepers by taking a DIY approach.

Whether this means curating an exhibition, starting a new publication, or launching your own business, making your own opportunities means being proactive, and not waiting around for someone else to determine your fate.

HOW TO START A BUSINESS

Formalizing a business can be a highly creative—and even energizing—undertaking.

> "I spent many years on the other side of business (i.e., as an employee instead of a consultant), and often felt more like business was happening to me rather than me participating in the business world. Looking back, this was my reality because it was my mind-set. So get in there, take control, and play the game. There is room for everyone, and often the only way to figure it out is to jump in and try."
